User Interviews

by Amara Hill

Background

In the last month, I've realized there are quite a few confusions when it comes to logging on to the computers at UAT. New students often struggle with knowing whether or not to put their full email into the username box, whether or not to capitalize their username, and how to log on when someone else already is. Goals: Identify the major issues students have with the UAT computers to design well-explained instructions for new users.

Research Questions

1. How do people enter data on the computer?
2. What is the learning curve of new users when they enter data?
3. What are the most common errors users make when entering data?
4. How often do people use the device?
5. What do people use the device for?
6. Do users own their own computer?
7. How do users log in to theirs?
8. When do they use the computers the most?
9. Have users had any issues with the keyboards?

Methodology

A usability survey will be conducted in-person with 3 individuals. Each participant session will last 5 minutes and will include a short briefing, an interview, and a debriefing.

Participants

These are the primary characteristics of the study's participants:
